Propane tanks in HHG

As of May 1, household goods moving companies no longer accept propane tanks of any type, including purged ones.

Recent fires and explosions in moving vans have resulted in new, stricter safety regulations. Shipment of propane tanks will no longer be authorized when moving HHG at government expense.

To prevent any inconvenience for upcoming moves, customers are asked to plan ahead. Prior to the pickup of HHG, call a propane dealer for disposal instructions. The change will not affect shipments moved or stored before May 1.

From the desk of the Garrison Commander

Commander discusses housing improvements

Hello all,

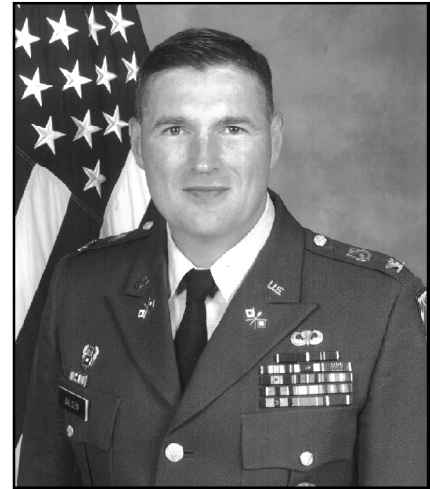

Would like to provide some information to you on the projects we have initiated. Our first renovation project in years has the initial house nearing completion. The address is 241 Buna Circle, just off Monterey Road in the Stilwell Park community. We invite you to take a look. It is a four-bedroom, one-and-a-half-bath unit with a new open designed kitchen and dining area, one and a half car garage and a fenced yard. We will have 18 of these units completed in the next couple months.

We are also looking at new contractors for lead-based paint abatement to include a complete new house painting. Our first pilot house is 207 Rome Ave. in Fitch Park community. Tell us what you think.

We are also putting a series of stop signs through Ardennes Circle in our continuing effort to curb the excessive speeding. We are especially targeting the neighborhood playground areas. We are also looking to install some speed or rumble bumps on the long hill on Corregidor Road to ensure a safer neighborhood.

We are also reviewing a limited type self-help store which will enable

Army Col. Peter Dausen
Garrison Commander

you to do some minor repairs. More to follow on this project.

Thanks for listening.

Armed Forces Day

Secretary of Defense sends holiday message to troops

By Secretary of Defense William S. Cohen
for Armed Forces Day, May 20

Throughout our nation's history, men and women of courage and devotion have willingly defended our nation's liberties at freedom's front — in any sky, on any ocean, on any shore. Fifty years ago, President Harry Truman deemed that a day be set aside to commemorate this tradition by honoring those of you who serve this nation in uniform. What President Truman observed then remains true today: it would be impossible to maintain peace and freedom without our Armed Forces.

Today, you carry the torch of this rich tradition of faithful and devoted service — here at home and around the globe. Wherever you serve, whether patrolling the waters of the Pacific, risking all in the no-fly zones over Iraq, or maintaining peace in the Balkans, you are the finest force for peace the world has ever known. You are a truly inspiring team that holds tremendous hope and opportunity for people the world over.

On this 50th Armed Forces Day, the American people join me in expressing our profound gratitude to you, aware that your commitment to this nation does not come without peril or price. Duty often calls for prolonged periods away from family and home, in missions that can be difficult and dangerous. So it is truly fitting that we pause on this day to recognize these sacrifices and to honor you — patriots whose passion and dedication preserve the blessings of freedom every day.

As your Secretary of Defense, my message for you today is simple, and a feeling shared by all Americans: We need you. We are enormously proud of you. We thank you for your selfless service.

TRICARE Prime members may continue enrollment during relocation, transfer

Are you a TRICARE Prime member who will be:

- ☐ moving out of town?
- ☐ transferring?
- ☐ sending a child off to college?
- ☐ retiring?

Take TRICARE Prime with you. Called "enrollment portability," this feature of Prime allows you to continue your enrollment without interruption when you relocate from one Prime region to another.

Benefits for Active Duty Family Members

Enrollment portability will help you whether your move is short-term or long-term. There is no limit on the number of transfers for active duty family members.

Benefits for Retirees and Non-Active Duty Family Members

Your enrollment fees transfer with you when you move. (Active duty family members do not pay an enrollment fee.) Family members who live apart can enroll together and pay only one family enrollment fee. This saves you money if your children attend colleges in other states, or if your children live with your former spouse out of your area. In order to transfer enrollment, fees must be current.

How to Use Portability

Before you move, stop by your local TRICARE Service Center or call (800) 242-6788 for advice about transferring your enrollment. Not all areas offer TRICARE Prime, so check with your local TRICARE Service Center to see what options you will have in your new area.

Don't disenroll before you leave. Transfer your TRICARE Prime enrollment when you arrive at your new home.

Once you reach your new location, contact the nearest TRICARE Service Center or Military Treatment Facility to select a new Primary Care Manager and to complete an enrollment application. This way, there will be no break in your health care coverage when you move.

Your Primary Care Manager provides your health care and arranges for specialty care as needed.

For more information about enrollment portability, call (800) 242-6788, or pick up a portability brochure at your nearest TRICARE Service Center or Beneficiary Services Office. You also may find information online by visiting www.hfhs.com or www.TRICARE.osd.mil.

Briefings on TRICARE benefits are held at the TRICARE Service Center, 4399 Parker Flats Cut-off Road, Presidio of Monterey Annex.

The next briefing is June 6, 11 a.m. (Courtesy of Foundation Health Federal Services)

Elder abuse

Awareness, involvement key to protecting senior citizens

Senior citizens currently represent 4 and a half percent of California's population. By the year 2020, over 16 percent of the state's population will be 60 years of age or older. Many of these people will retire comfortably and lead happy and robust lives.

However, many of America's elderly are not experiencing the relaxation of retired life. Many are being physically, psychologically or financially exploited; some by strangers, some by acquaintances and some even by their own family members. Gerontologists consider this type of exploitation to be elder abuse.

Elder abuse crosses all social, economic and ethnic lines – any elderly person could become a victim. It is important to become aware of the possibility of elder abuse and to be able to recognize signs that might suggest its occurrence. This awareness will enable us to help neighbors, friends or family members who may be in trouble.

Types of Abuse

Abuse of the elderly usually falls into the following categories: physical abuse, psychological/emotional abuse, financial abuse and physical neglect.

Physical Abuse

Look for any unusual unexplained cuts, bruises, etc. on the face, arms and legs.

Psychological Abuse

Look for any unusual changes in behavior or routine. If you don't see or hear from an elderly person for a few days, stop by and check in on them.

Financial Abuse

Look for any new persons residing in the elderly person's home. Be alert of salesman at the person's home. Listen if they tell you about someone in charge of their finances spending the money inappropriately.

Physical Neglect

Notice if their home is unusually unkempt or filthy. Notice if they begin to look malnourished or if they are not receiving their proper medication.

Fortunately, most older persons do not experience this type of treatment. Nevertheless, elder abuse is a frightening and real issue.

Knowing what to look for and who to contact if you suspect abuse will help you do your part to correct the situation. By being alert to situations that could lead to the abuse of an elderly person, you may be able to prevent serious injury or even save a life.

If you live with or care for an elderly person, you know the responsibility can be overwhelming at times. One way to cope is to be sure to take time away from your responsibilities on a regular basis. This will help to alleviate stress and the potential for abuse and give you a chance to put everything into perspective.

Reporting elder abuse

California law mandates elder care custodians, medical and nonmedical practitioners or employees of elder protective agencies to report suspected abuse. The following is a list of elder protective agencies that you can contact if you are uncertain about reporting suspected abuse:

The state Department of Social Services

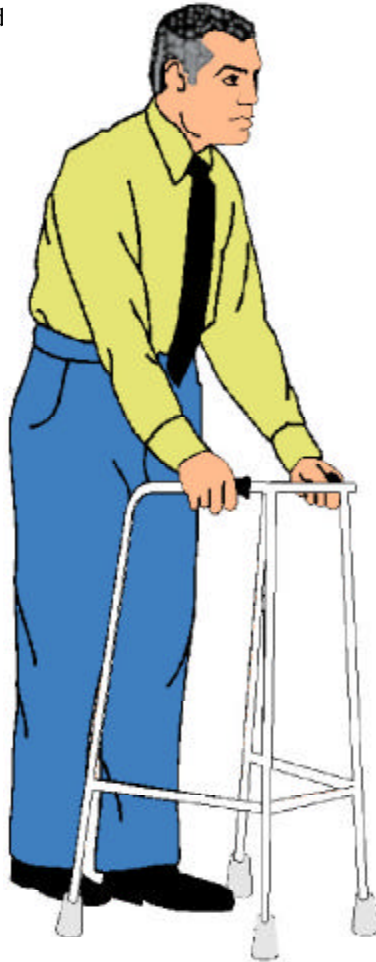

- ☐ A county probation department
- ☐ A county welfare department
- ☐ A police or sheriff's department
- ☐ A nursing home ombudsman

Remember – one alert person can make a difference.

Help stop family violence. Family violence prevention information in Neighborhood Watch setting is a new concept; it needs your support.

For more information on Elder Abuse contact the Presidio of Monterey Police Department, Crime Prevention Officer at 242-7868.

Presidio of Monterey family members have an established means to inform themselves of crimes occurring in various housing areas.

Crime Watch is the information link between the POM Police and the community. Crime Watch reports crimes that have occurred in our military community housing areas and is updated weekly. Special Alerts are also a part of the Crime Watch system and notifies the community of crimes that are of an immediate concern.

Call 24-CRIME or 242-7463 to hear a brief recorded synopsis of incidents and crimes.
